Blazer's Arrival Most Important Event of Year;

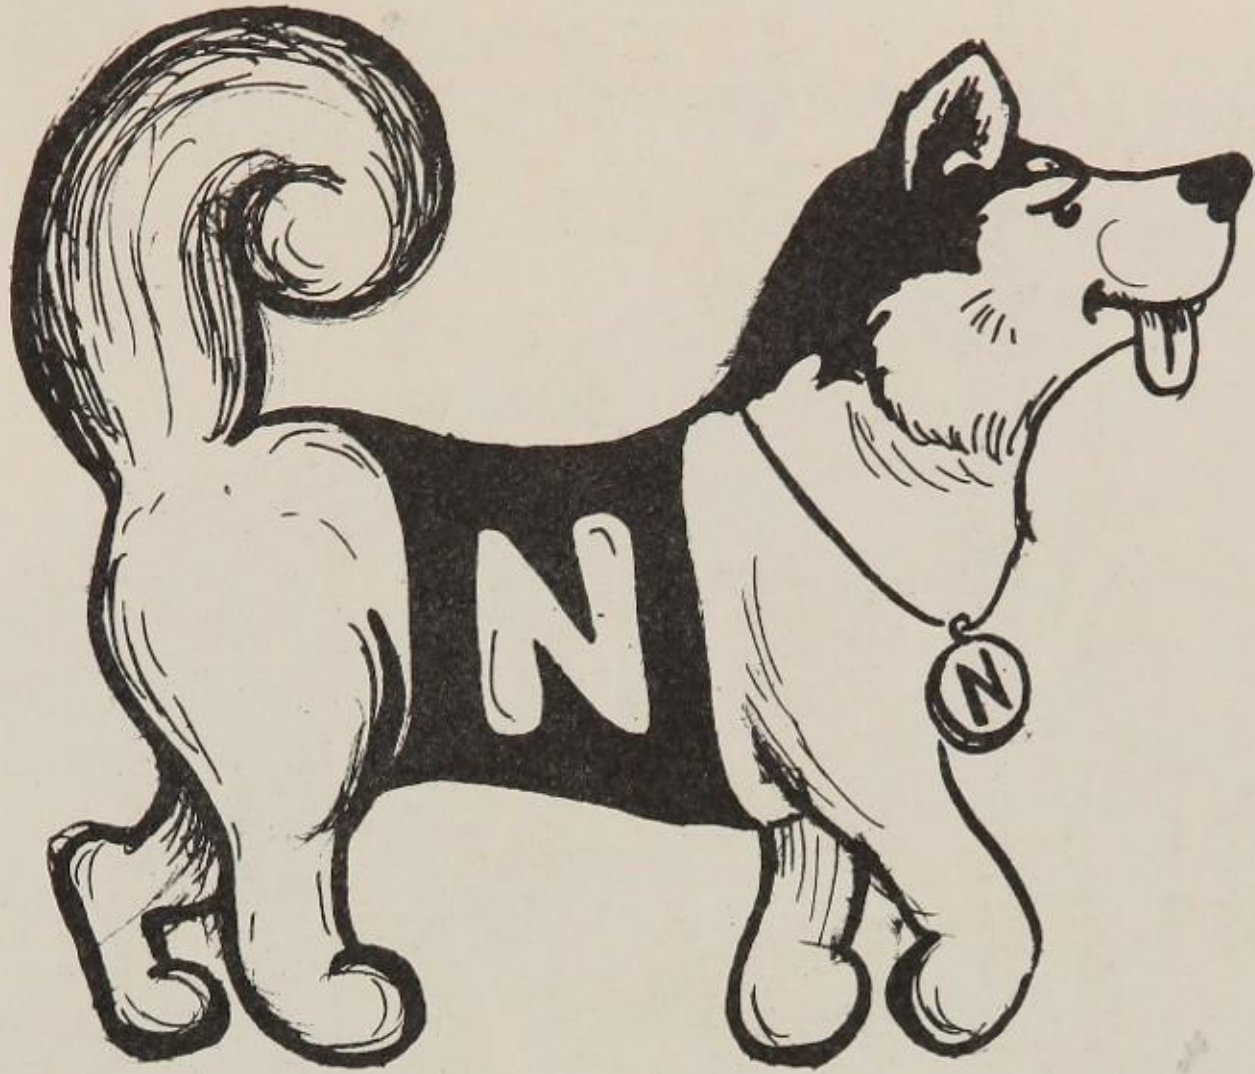

I arrived in December from my former home in Wone-woc, Wis. It was dark in the crate, but after 20 hours of riding, my new keepers met me.

My name became Blazer through an all-school vote. My family didn't get a chance to greet me though. I got frightened, jumped the fence, and had an all-school alert search party to find me.

They found me in a field playing with my new found friend, a collie puppy. I'm all adjusted now, making my home with the Tromly's, with afternoon walks beside Bonnie Richert and pep assemblies with my entire family.

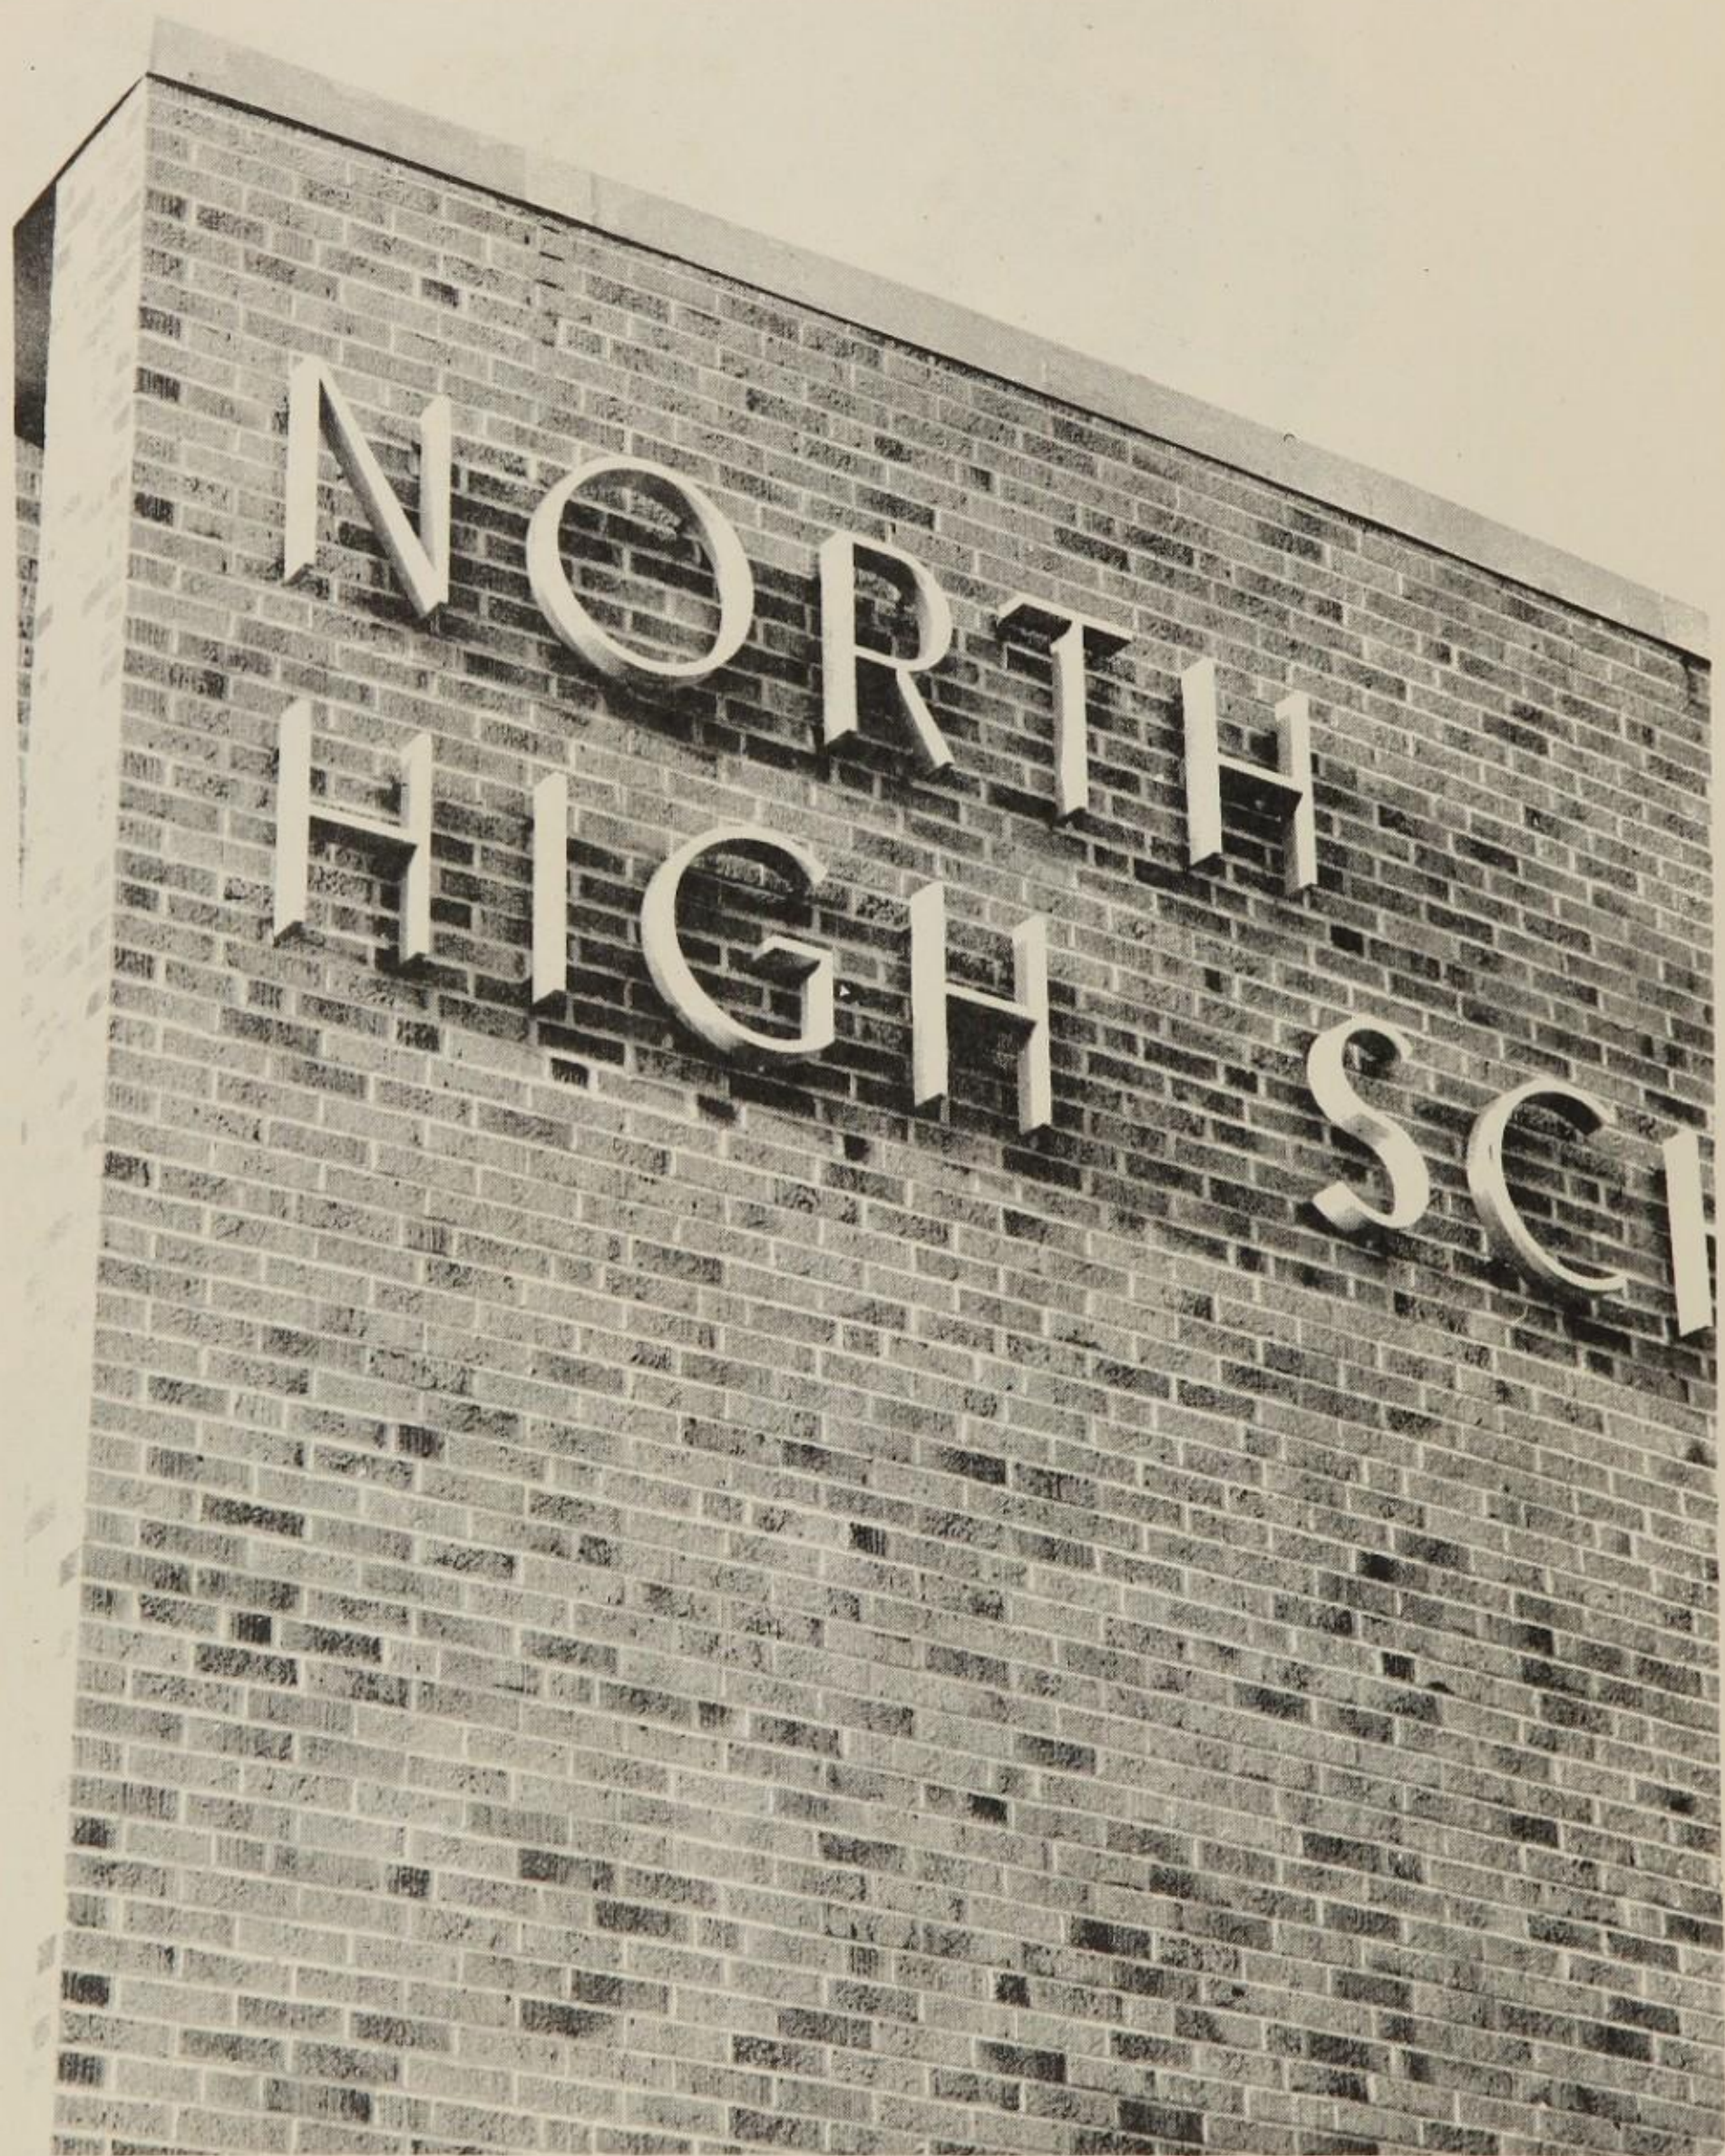

He Had His Problems, But All Is Well Now

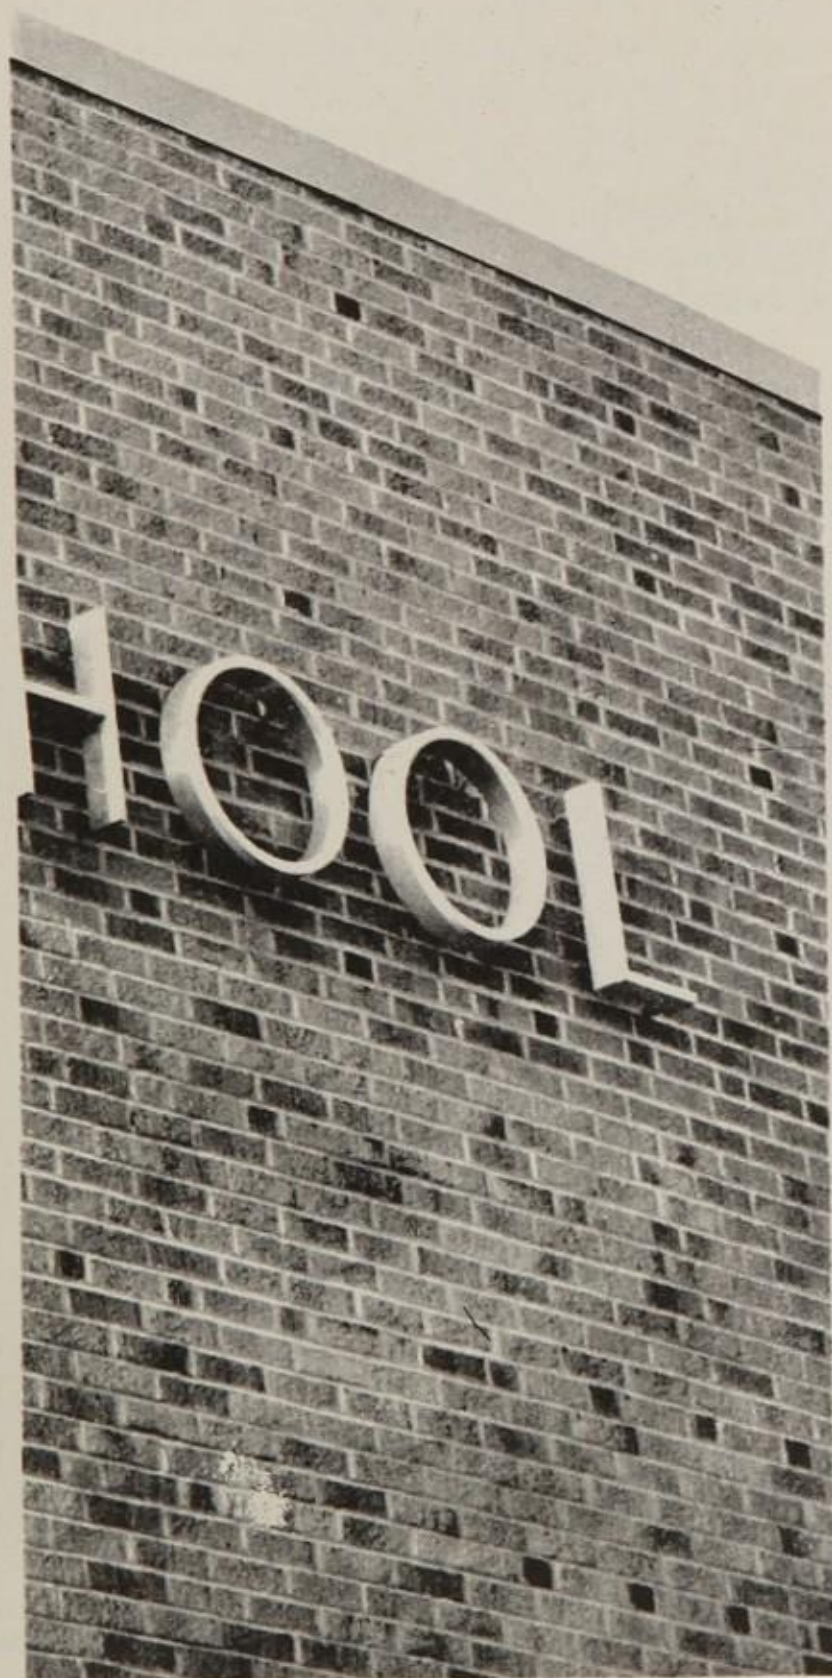

I don't know why I'm so important. Maybe it's 'cause I'm the only live all-school mascot in the city. I even received the No. 1 membership card at the Community Center.

Yes, I guess I'm it. I mean I, Blazer, am to represent North this year and for many years to come, not only as a school mascot, but also as a member of the North High family.

Special Events Highlighted Year's Activities

Anxious students and cheerleaders talk over the opposition at the coming Henderson football game for which rooters chartered five buses.

Among the highlights of the 1958-59 school year were the ceremonies for crowning the football and basketball queens. At the Owensboro game Bill Buck crowned Sandy McCarty football queen; and Al Koestring crowned Nina Westerfield basketball queen at the Newburgh game.

The football season was highlighted by a five bus caravan to Henderson. An outdoor pep session in front of the school sent the caravan on its way. Later in the season, North was host for the basketball sectional and other tournament games played at the Evansville stadium. Our band provided the color guard which performed before each session. Wayne Roberts, junior, sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and was accompanied by the musicians in the color guard.

Green and white and green and white — rooms, shirts, skirts, fingernails, hair, hats — you name it, and it was either green or white on February 12. Starting this year a plaque was presented for the best decorated room on "Green and White Day." The winning home room was Mrs. Helen Ayers' seventh grade. It won the right to keep the plaque for a year.

In spite of all these big events, the coming of Blazer is still considered the "biggest event" of the year.

by Adding 'Color' and Excitement to Our Routines

Fads, Fun, Foolishness Play Important Part

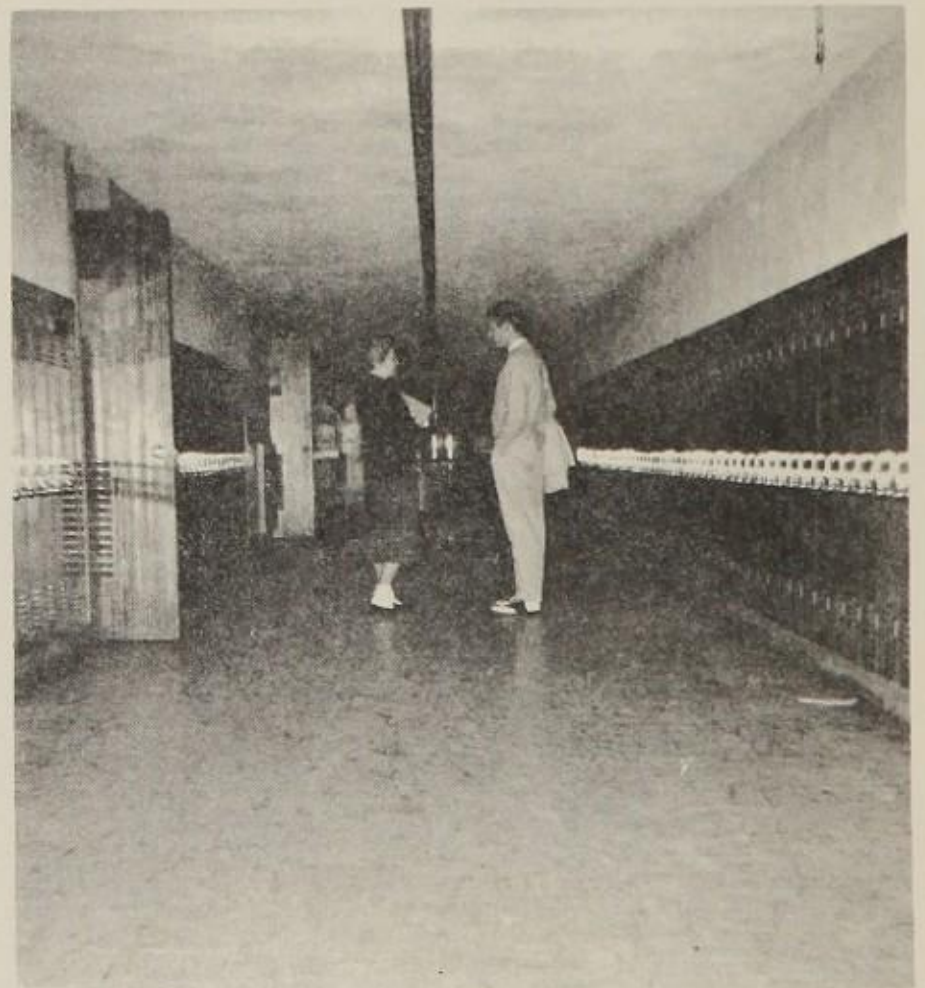

Pat Allis and Sally Kirkpatrick, juniors, were responsible for the North News Notes, newspaper clippings about North students and activities. The display was seen by visitors and students as they entered the school.

A place for eating, getting together, joking, and unorganized studying — the cafeteria offers many accommodations.

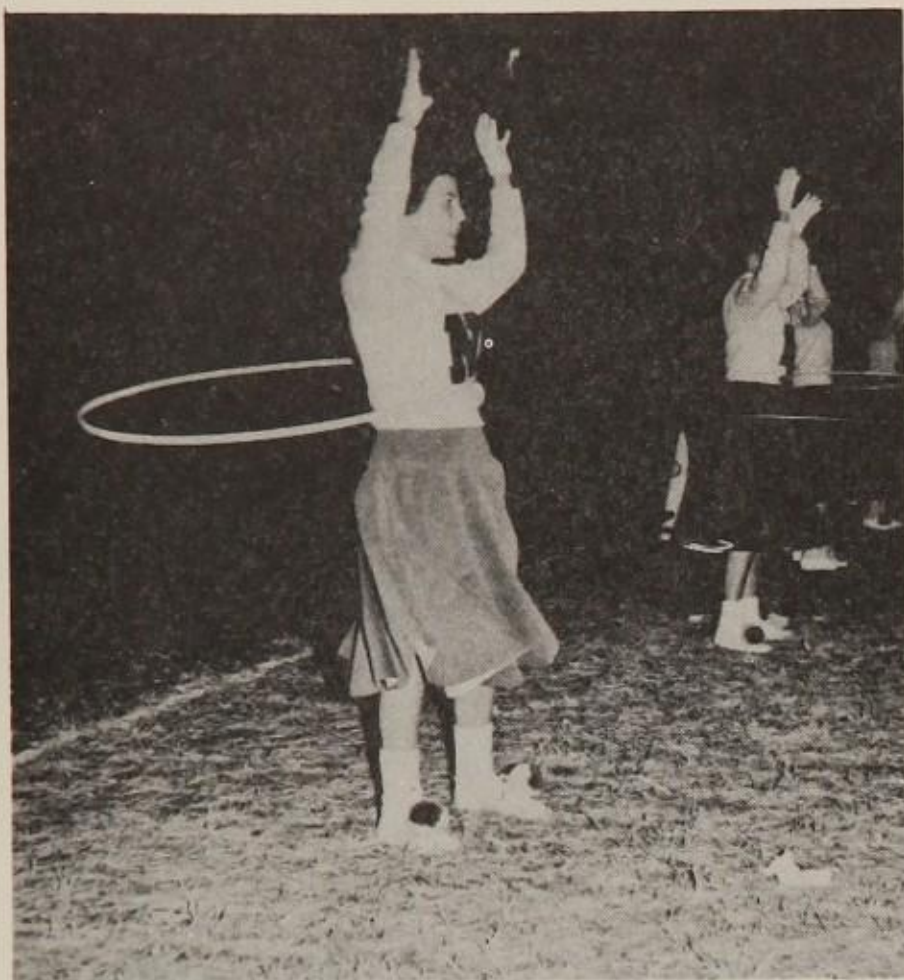

Where do we go now? Anonymous calls about fake bomb warnings drove North students out of school three times to kill time or fill their stomachs.

Two seniors lingering in the hall after practice for an athletic event, work on the school paper, or rehearsal for a dramatic production.

in Student's Dress, Habits, Way of Life

"Rahl Rahl Hoop-de-doop! Let's put Mater Dei through the hoop!" Varsity cheerleaders introduced the yell to the pep section at the Mater Dei football game.

This year many changes appeared at North. Black, blue, and red tights made their debut in the fall; white blazers with pins decorating the pockets were seen throughout the halls; the cheerleaders did a yell with hula hoops; and three anonymous bomb scare calls sent North students home for the day. News Notes, a display of clippings about North and her students appearing in local papers, was introduced in the late fall by two junior girls in charge of clipping items and mounting them on the office window.

Serving many purposes, the cafeteria is a place of constant action. Students not only eat in the cafeteria, but also congregate there before school to chat with friends or do some last minute studying. The cafeteria also serves as the TV room since it is the best place to accommodate the large groups.

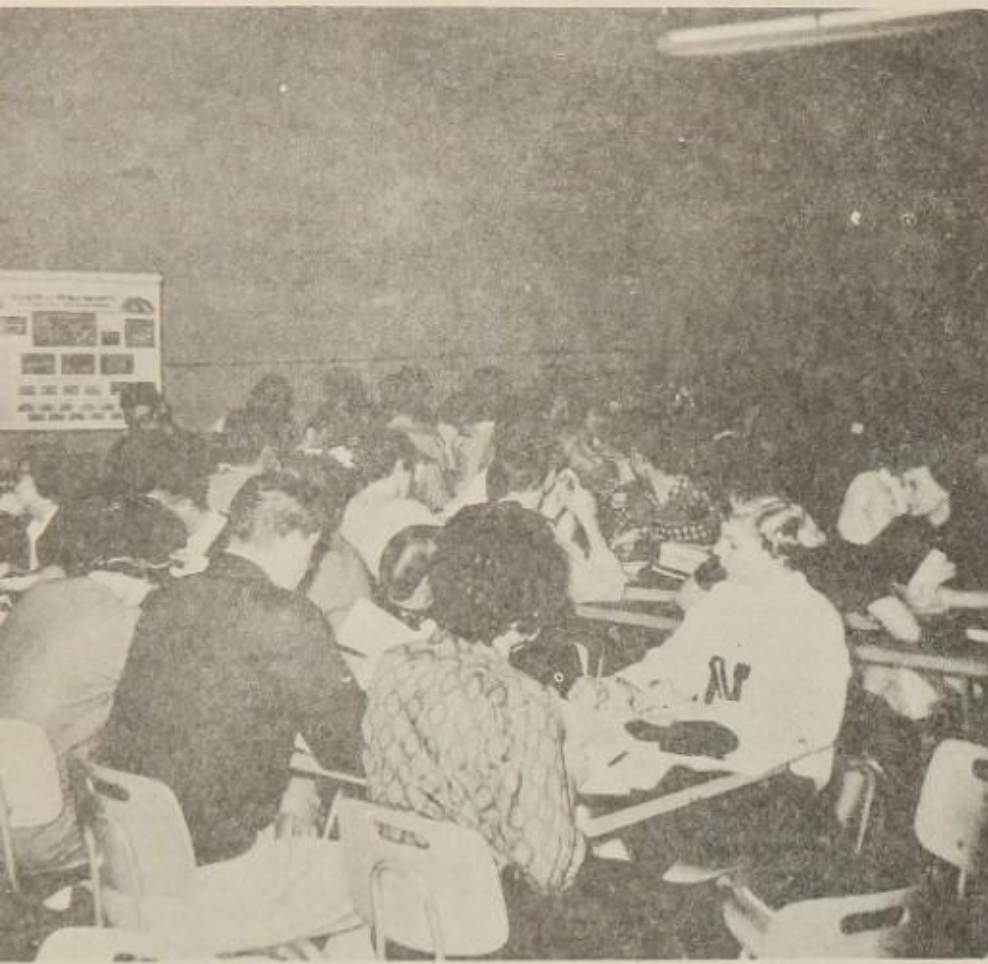

Way out on a limb? Jim Petry and Gary Rinehart, seniors, put the finishing touches on shining up the windows of the electronics shop.

Subject Choices Include

North offers various choices to students in curriculum programs. These choices include general college, technical college, business, and industrial arts. Also the most modern systems of teaching are applied. Television classes were tried this year for the first time. Geometry, English, U.S. history, and American problems were all taught over the TV screens.

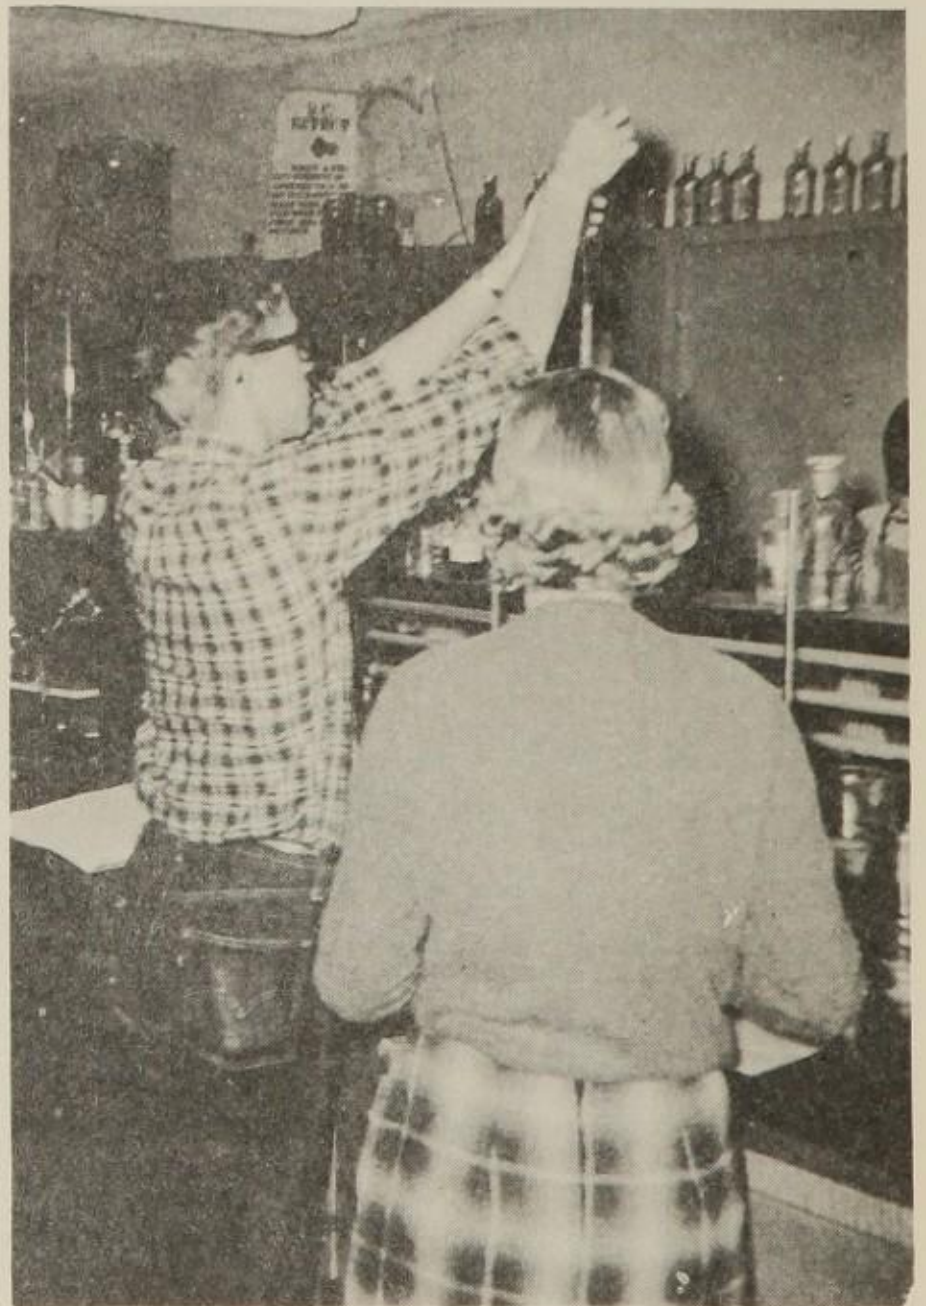

Besides a full program of the regularly required subjects, North offers advanced training in math and science for the more outstanding students who were able to double up on their math and science subjects. North also offers four foreign languages and numerous English electives.

A new experiment at North that seniors will never forget — TV American problems class.

Projects? Why, of course. Here Lynn McConnell, senior, is explaining his solid geometry figures to the class.

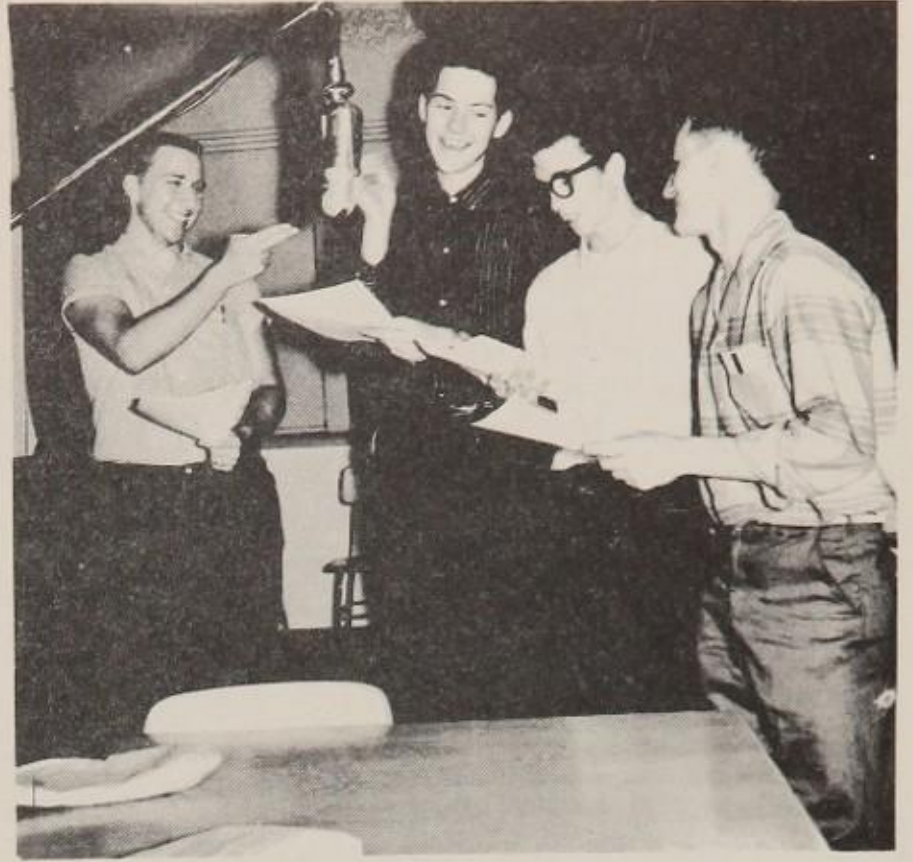

Two of Mr. Gerald Kirkman's chemistry "demons," Larry Schornhorst and Anna O'Reilly, seniors, prepare a solution with as much zeal as if they were trying to blow up the left wing of the building.

Shop, Technical, Business College, Prep Courses

Glenda Romine, senior, plays nurse to Gayle Page, senior, by helping administer aid to the sick during home nursing class.

Vocational Shops Offer Complete Job Training;

Having the only complete vocational program in Evansville, North is very proud of its shops. Almost any type of vocational training desired can be obtained at North. Some of the various shops are auto body, sheet metal, drafting, machine shop, auto mechanics, printing, electronics, wood-working, mechanical drawing, and welding.

The shops perform valuable services for North and other Evansville schools, projects for the community, and jobs for non-profit organizations. The vocational printing students print The North Star, school bulletins, tickets, programs, and practically all the printing for the school corporation. Several of the shops combined to build a basketball scoreboard, complete with lighted nameplates. The metal shop made a whirlpool bath for the athletic department.

Shop teachers frequently help find jobs for the senior boys, and the time the boys have spent in shop is included on their apprenticeship.

Completing a paint job on his car in the auto body shop is Keith Derrington, junior.

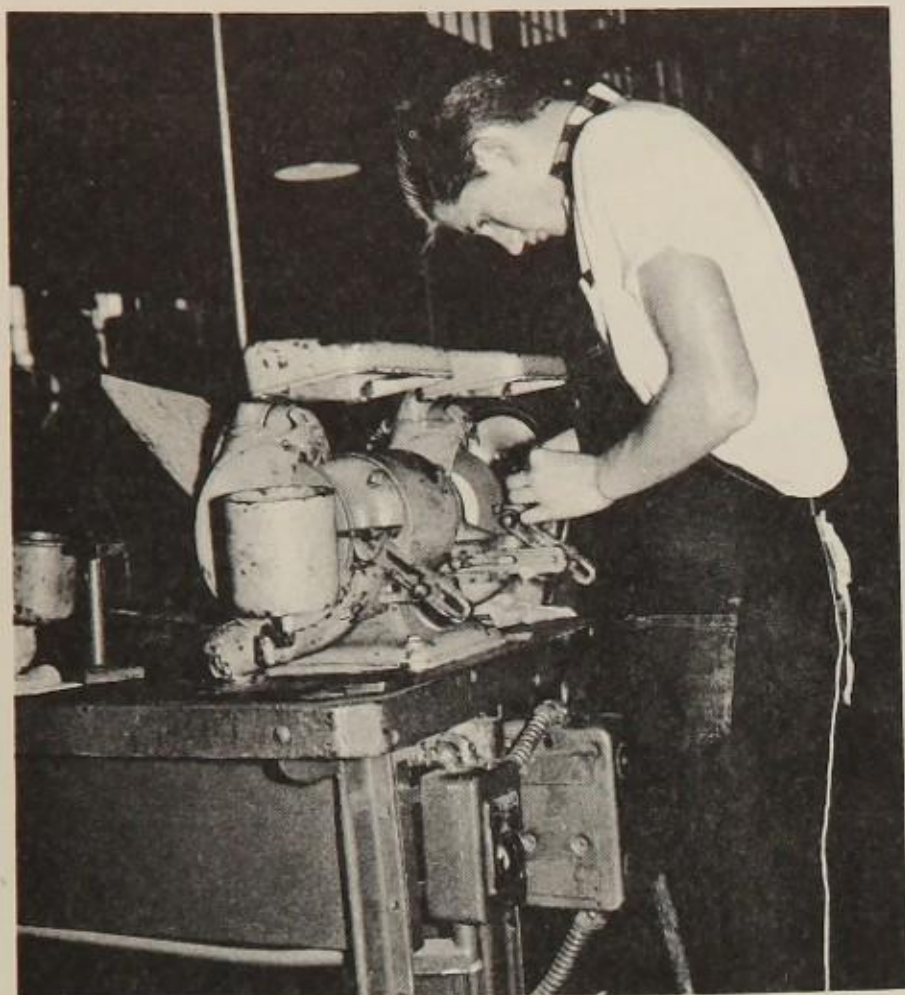

Carburetors, pumps, and grease are some of the equipment seen by students Danny Riggs and Ronnie Hickey, seniors, in auto mechanics shop.

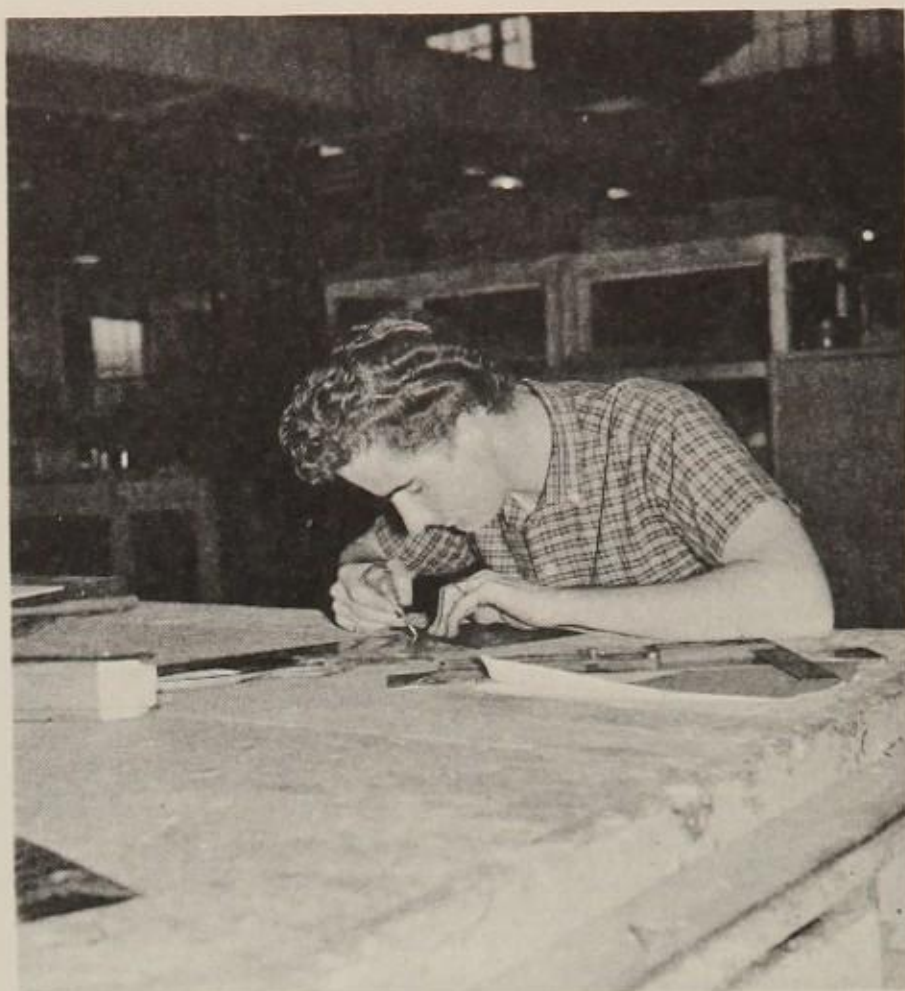

Two print shop boys, Tom Smythe, senior, and Jerry Turner, junior, work on the photography equipment.

Do Odd Jobs for Local School Corporation

Using the grinding machine to sharpen a knife, Eddie Toon, junior, demonstrates the work of the machine shop.

Laying out tin as an assignment, James Bozarth, junior, shows part of the workings of the sheet metal shop.

Jerry Bruning, junior, is drawing up plans in mechanical drafting.

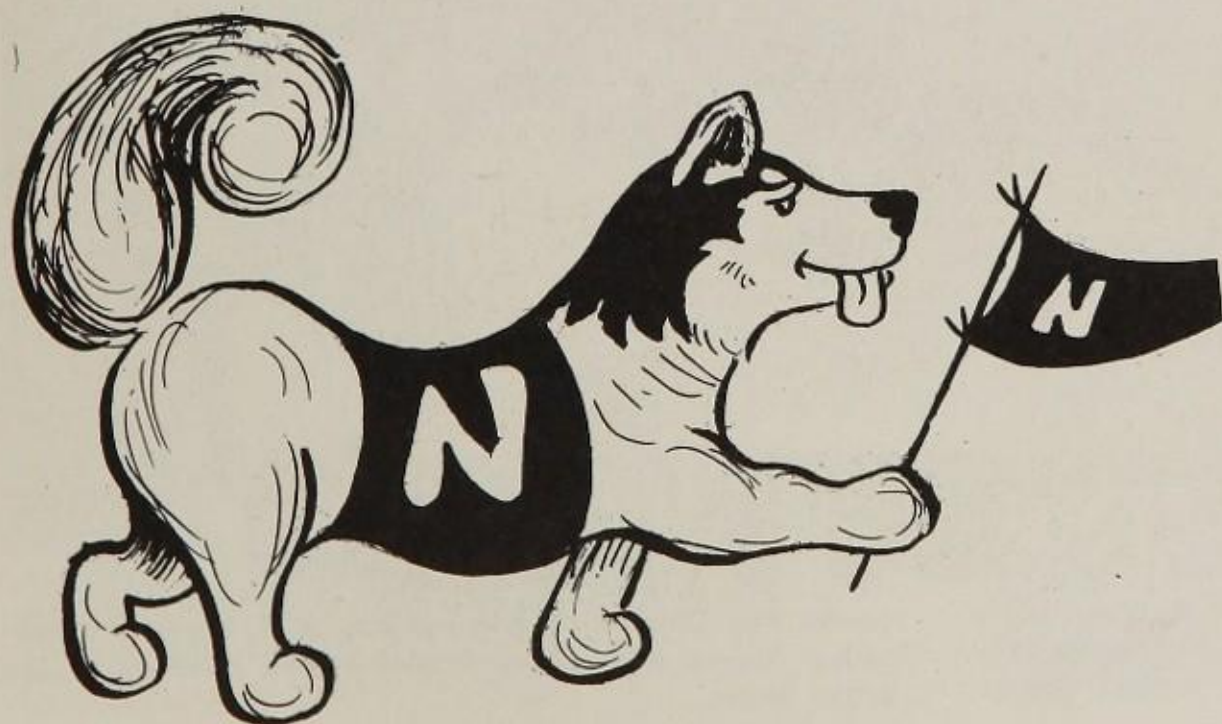

Demonstrating the work of the electronics shop, Gary Rinehart and Mike Chinn, seniors, put tubes inside the TV.

Sixteen-hundred "Wheels" Make Our School

It takes many people to make the wheels of a school turn 'round; and for North, that number is more than sixteen hundred. Teachers, students, principals, counselors, secretaries, cooks, custodians, matrons, a librarian, even a nurse, are all vital parts of our school family. Without a single one of these, our family would be incomplete. The wheels of education would no longer roll so smoothly. These are the people that "live" at North High each day, and each one of them is important.

They Guided Class Meetings, Activities

Senior class officers this year were Ken Elmendorf, president; Bonnie Richert, vice-president; Donna Ball, secretary; and Dave Downen, treasurer. As president of the class, Ken presided over the Senior Council meetings. Officers of the Senior Class and representatives from the senior homerooms comprised the members of the Senior Council. Homeroom representatives were Paul Barnett, Mike Chinn, Janice Elmendorf, Charlotte Jones, Bonnie Miller, Gayle Nunn, and Joyce Pryor. The council met every week under the guidance of senior class sponsors, Miss Carolyn Ruschmeier and Mr. Robert Southwood.

This year the duties of the council included supervising and organizing committees for senior calling cards, Commencement invitations, the Senior Prom, the senior party, the class project, the Commencement Dance, and the senior picnic.

wood, Ken Elmendorf, Mike Chinn, Miss Carolyn Ruschmeier, Donna Ball, Joyce Pryor, Janice Elmendorf, and Gayle Nunn.

Camera Shy

Handsome? Ugly? Beautiful? It makes no difference. Some people are just camera shy. Senior students who failed to have their pictures taken this year are Ronald Ary, David Blackburn Barr, Billy Edward Bredemeier, Bobby Jo Burton, Steve Cones, Donnie Hoyt Cotton, Frances Yvone Curl, Larry Galvin, Joyce Carolyn Hancock, William Ray Hassee, Darrell Gene Hobgood, David Johns, Donald Lee Johnson, Robert Roeder, Mary Lee Smith, Thomas Theiring, Gerald Ray Tucker, Linda Underwood, Paul Ward, and Kenneth Wood.

January graduates are Phyllis Mabrey, Timothy Aaron Newberry, and Darrell Smith. Night school graduates are Clive Guthridge, Ramie Lemmons, Marietta Macken, Betty McKinley, Susan Ruedlinger, and Francis Welch.

Twirling her fire baton, Gayle Kolb, senior, was featured during half-time at the Mater Dei football game.

We Made a Wise Decision—We Came to North

While many of us were freshmen at other high schools in Evansville, we had to make an important decision: whether to transfer as sophomores to the new, modern one-floor North High School, or to remain where we were.

As the result of our decisions, we became a part of a brand new school experience that was at times confusing but always exciting. North High School was the "melting pot" of transferred sophomores, juniors, and seniors, upperclass vocational students, new freshmen, and a small group of junior high students. Each new student wanted to place North on the map in scholarship, athletics, and activities.

No one remembers better than we seniors choosing green and white for our colors, selecting a school song, and electing cheerleaders. The candy sale to finance band uniforms, the organization of new clubs, the first meager athletic seasons, the "S-Day" campaign, and the first issue of The North Star hold a warm spot in our hearts and memories.

During our junior year we recall the class party in the cafeteria, the "April in Paris" prom, The Star's "Husky" edition to finance a live mascot, and the choice and arrival of our class rings. That year saw the first "Green and White Day" and the coronation of the first football and basketball queens.

Then we were seniors. Typically, we met in the auditorium for class meetings, and before the year was half over we discussed plans for Commencement and took measurements for our caps and gowns. Throughout the year we considered college applications, studied for college board exams, applied for jobs, crammed (too late) for tests, watched TV for American problems class, and stayed up till 4 A.M. typing footnotes for term papers.

The football and basketball coronations, the holiday and sectional tournaments, school and student government elections, sock hops in the gym, plays, special assemblies, athletic and music awards, National Honor Society "tapping," the picture fund campaign, "Green and White Day," and the North Highlights filled our senior year.

One of the biggest events was the arrival of a Siberian Husky — the only live mascot in the city—presented to the school by The North Star staff. After nearly two years of planning, Blazer, our adopted puppy, arrived and received his name through an all-school vote. Paul Barnett, senior, had suggested the name and won a free Senior Edition.

Besides all our activities and extra curricular work, we seniors copped many awards including: Gayle Nunn, homemaker award; Paul Barnett, Bausch and Lomb Science Award; John Cox, Gettysburg Address winner; Tara Jo Veeck, Speaker for Democracy finalist; and Winkie Prather, state leadership award. Other outstanding senior recognitions include: Gary Brown, Tri-State Art Exhibit award; Kathy Koch's DAR, Barbara Bennett's Quota award, and The North Star's first Columbia Medalist Award and fourth consecutive All-American Award. The remainder of our senior year went like clockwork with pins, calling cards, senior class day, Baccalaureate, Senior Prom, party, picnic, and finally Commencement with speakers Jan Stuart, Bob McClure, Janice Elmendorf, and John Cox. But Commencement is the beginning — the beginning of another experience, another study, or another job.

"Oh-h-h, my aching feet. I'll never make it home," complains Jeff Kratz to his date, Tara Jo Veeck.

"Who me win?" Yes, Gary Brown and Pat Herrell were presented trophies for the best boy athlete and best girl athlete at the senior class party by senior class sponsor, Miss Carolyn Ruschmeier.

Senior President Ken Elmendorf relates activities in one of the class meetings.

Top men on the North pole! Mr. Paul Forney, assistant principal, and Mr. Adrian Meadows, principal, discuss plans for North.

"Problems, problems, problems, all day long." But counselors, Mr. Harold Buck and Miss Dorothy Lang, handle them well as they go over college applications, excuses for absences, test scores, and general advice for students at North.

Helpful People, Important People Typify The

Behind the hustle and bustle of school is Mr. Adrian L. Meadows, our principal. His dignity and charm are important factors in the efficiency of North.

Assisting Mr. Meadows is Mr. Paul G. Forney. He acts as two cogs in the "wheel of administration," since he is both assistant principal and dean of boys. His duties range from issuing re-admittance cards for absentees to planning the entire schedule of classes for each semester.

Miss Dorothy Lang is another double-duty administrator. She is constantly in the midst of girls since she is dean of girls and counselor. Her pleasing smile and friendly disposition make her a popular consultant among the female students.

Mr. Harold Buck, school guidance counselor, is more commonly known among the seniors as "the man to see about college and jobs." His office is overflowing with college catalogues, pamphlets, aptitude tests, and, usually, students from all classes.

Miss Linda Sturm, secretary to the principal, greets the school visitors and supervises the supply office. The school switchboard, senior class records, daily bulletins, and distribution of the school mail are all under the scrutinizing eye of Miss Sturm.

Serving as secretary to Mr. Forney, assistant principal, is Mrs. Doris Allen. Her main duties include tallying the attendance records, keeping records and statistics on each student, and approving excused absences.

of the athletic office. During football and basketball season, she arranges for buses to out-of-town games. Tickets to athletic events and eligibility cards for athletes and cheerleaders also pass through her jurisdiction.

Working under the TV teachers as secretary is Miss Rita Dodge. Among her jobs are duplicating tests and recording grades for the various classes.

Caring for the many books on North's bookshelves and maintaining peace and quiet in the library are the duties of Mrs. Katherine Long, school librarian.

Miss Natalie Land assumes the responsibilities of school nurse and Future Nurses sponsor. She always has a supply of bandages and good cheer on hand for the "suffering" students.

"Is there a doctor in the house?" No, but there is a nurse, Miss Natalie Land, who administers to the aches and pains of North students.

Socially We Just Grew and Grew and Grew

School is a place to grow not only academically, but also socially. The classes and teachers take care of the academic portion of school. Clubs, plays, music, and a number of other activities help us adjust socially. Activities, many and varied, are designed to appeal to the interests of our many and varied members. We grow in personality each time we come in contact with our friends at a meeting, work together on a play, or participate in a contest for some department of the school. Activities are a very important phase of school, giving each one of us something to contribute.

Allegro, Forte, Moderato, Thus Music Is Made

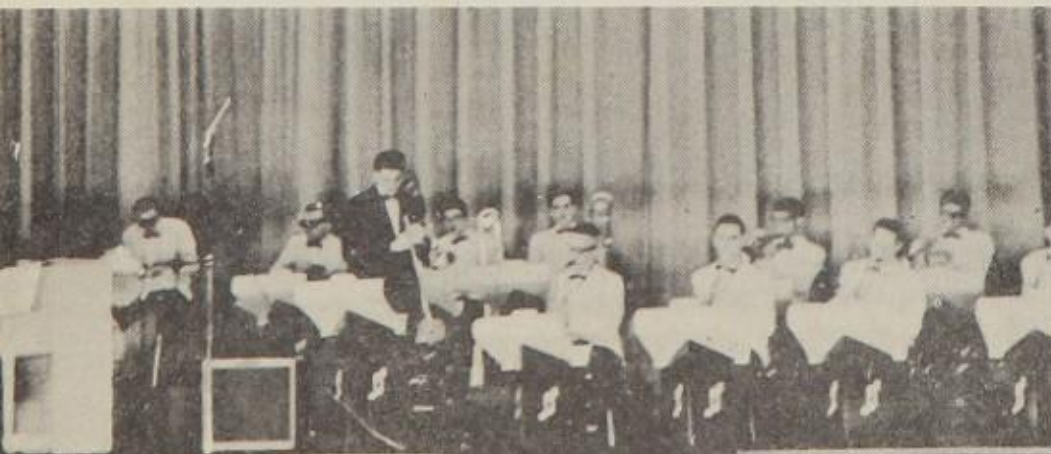

"Hail, Hail, to Green and White!" Poised in salute are majorettes Rita Hornby, Ronda Woodruff, and Gayle Kolb.

Captain Warren Grimwood was in command of the band during the marching season and aided in directing it during the concert season. He was assisted by Lieutenant Welker Gilpatrick.

Under the direction of Mr. Burnell Smith, instructor, the band spent the first half of the year marching at the football games and the second half performing as a concert band. The orchestra's main event of the year was the spring concert. North band members received eight firsts and three seconds at the district solo and ensemble contest. Going on to state, the Evansville winners captured five firsts.

To the tune of "Jersey Bounce" this year's dance band swings under the direction of Welker Gilpatrick on the opening night of the North Highlights.

Hurry, Hurry, Hurry Is Password of Staffers

Read that copy! Paste-up that page! There were always deadlines to meet and work to be done on The North Star. With a paper to put out every week, Bob McClure, first semester editor, and Loretta Volkman, second semester editor, were always in a hurry checking to see that the assignment sheets were up and that there was enough news to fill the paper's six pages.

The North Star was not only written by our students but was printed by our print shop on an off-set press.

The Senior Edition staff members with Pat Herrell editing, can relax now that their deadlines are met and the book is printed, but there was a time when the pencils, typewriters, cameras, and paste really flew. Many hours were spent up in the journalism room planning and compiling materials, but it was worth it.

Comparing toes? No, just resting those footsies for the SCFF hop sponsored by the Student Council. Committee workers are Bill Mitchell, Barbara Bennett, Phil White, and Winkle Prather.

Honor Societies Strive To Improve School

Our honor societies, along with student government, help to promote the general good name and good behavior of North students.

Character, scholarship, leadership, and service are the goals of the National Honor Society, headed this year by Al Koestring, president; Janice Elmen-dorf, vice-president; Anna O'Reilly, secretary; and Phil White, treasurer. The group has aided in counseling prospective North freshmen at the elementary "feeder" schools.

The journalists have Quill and Scroll as their own international honor society. Loretta Volkman, president; Lori Kutlich, vice-president; and Becky Pierce, secretary-treasurer, have led the group in sponsoring a fund-raising campaign to benefit The North Star.

North High's Thespians, dramatic honor society members, attended the Thespian convention at Purdue during the summer. In the fall they presented a one-act play for the state convention at Salem. President Ken Elmendorf, Vice-president Gary Brown, and Secretary-treasurer Janice Elmen-dorf helped choose the new Thespians according to their specified requirement of points earned by participation in stage productions.

Along with these societies, another elected group has strived to promote the welfare of our school through student government. Presided over by Winkle Prather, the Student Council had Jan Stuart as vice-president, Becky Pierce as secretary, and Sandy McCarty as treasurer. Getting the students acquainted at sock hops and dances, organizing activities, raising funds for needy organizations, obtaining a school flag, and helping in any other capacity called upon, the Student Council worked hand in hand with its sponsor, Mr. Harold Buck, counselor, to improve the school.

"Madame Chairman, I rise to a point of order!" Caught in action in a debate, Student Council members were on the edge of their seats waiting for the outcome of the vote.

"To the woods," shouts "Little Green Riding Hood" (Sandy McCarty) to the fierce panther (Ken Elmendorf) in the Reitz pep assembly.

"These students have asked me to explain the purpose of this meeting today," began Principal Adrian Meadows as the Safe Driving Club was introduced through an assembly to the upperclassmen.

Clubs, Students Bring Prestige to Alma Mater

An organized Pep Club to promote enthusiasm and school spirit at games was headed by Marty Moore, president; Tara Jo Veeck, vice-president; Linda Westerfield, secretary; and Donna Ball, treasurer. Our Pep Club's main duty was to have organized cheering at the school's athletic functions.

Because of The North Star's safety campaign, a new safety club was formed this year. The group planned rules and regulations for drivers, as well as pedestrians, and sponsored a teen-age "roadeo" for North students.

Phil White presided over the student-run city government during National Youth Appreciation Week. He was appointed by the school administrators to serve as "mayor of Evansville for a day," while additional North seniors filled other city offices.

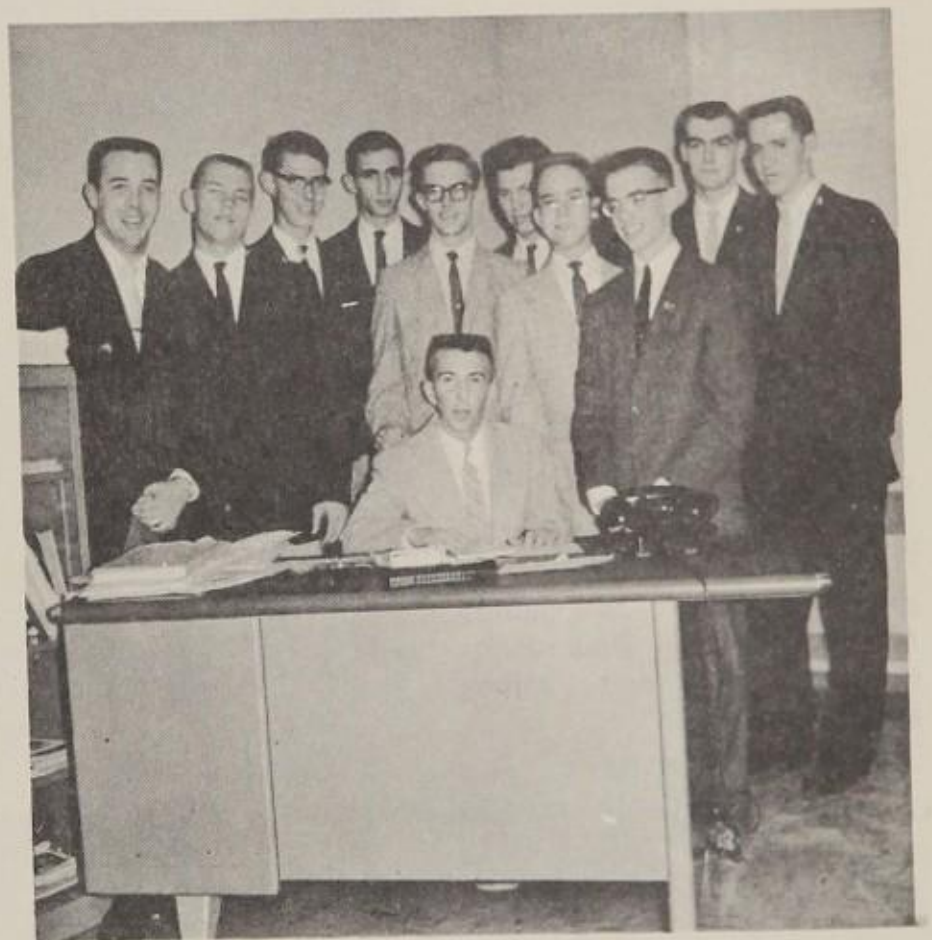

A drive to purchase paintings for North's walls was launched this year through the art department's North Building Picture Fund. Each home room had a goal of $5 dollars to be used for the pictures. Gary Brown, senior, and David White, junior, served as student members of the permanent picture purchasing committee.

As a demonstration of youth's interest in city government, two journalists, Ken Elmendorf and Winkie Prather, interviewed Mayor-elect J. William Davidson and U. S. Senator-elect R. Vance Hartke at the inauguration of Mayor Davidson. This was an outgrowth of the study of local government in TV American problems class.

Rehearsing for the fall play, "The Heiress" were Jim Pope, Bonnie Miller, Ken Elmendorf, and Gail Savage.

School's Talent Featured in Dramas, Shows

Dramatics students, under the direction of Miss Carol Taflinger, produced two all-school plays, as well as holiday assembly programs.

Portraying the tragedy of a wealthy maiden who is sought-after only because of her money, Gail Savage in "The Heiress" brought a moving characterization to the audience. Supporting characters were Jim Pope, Ken Elmendorf, and Marty Moore. The Thespians also presented a one-act comedy in the auditorium during lunch periods to raise money for their trip to the State Thespian Convention at Salem.

Other talent was featured this year, too. The junior class sponsored the "Junior Jives," to help finance their Junior Prom. In the spring North presented the third annual "North Highlights," emceed by Harold Keller, and the all-school comedy play, "See How They Run."

The German Band, composed of Jim Culpepper, Ken Fenner, Dick Croy, Randy Cooksey, Dave Buge, and Don Miller, try their antics on the audience at the third annual North Highlights.

Athletics Brings Us Glory, Laud, and Honors

Like the rest of North High, the sports department is improving with each new season. An able staff of coaches guide and direct the freshmen, reserve, and varsity teams in a full schedule of participation in inter-school athletics and tournaments. Husky athletes put in many hours of intense practice in the gym and the field behind the school in order to qualify to represent North High. The cheerleaders practice persistently after school so they can do a good job of leading the student body in cheers for the teams. Pep assemblies in the gym with our school mascot add excitement and color to the sports program.

Fearless Huskies Snag Winning Pigskin Season

Power-packed and dauntless was the '58 gridiron squad, coached by Morris Riley assisted by Ed Wessel.

Pegged underdogs in most clashes, the Huskies climbed above and beyond the expectations and tied with Reitz for second place in the city race. A tough line and fast backfield describes the material that stopped many of the tri-state's top gridiron teams. The old fighting spirit, the desire to win, led the Huskies to a 6-4 record after just winning one contest in last year's first varsity year.

The Huskies also tasted injuries and illnesses but continued to fly the North colors high. Quarterback Bill Buck received the Kiwanis Award. Junior end Bill Beshear led the team in scoring and pass receiving. Both Buck and Beshear, the touchdown combination, were tabbed on the All-City Team.

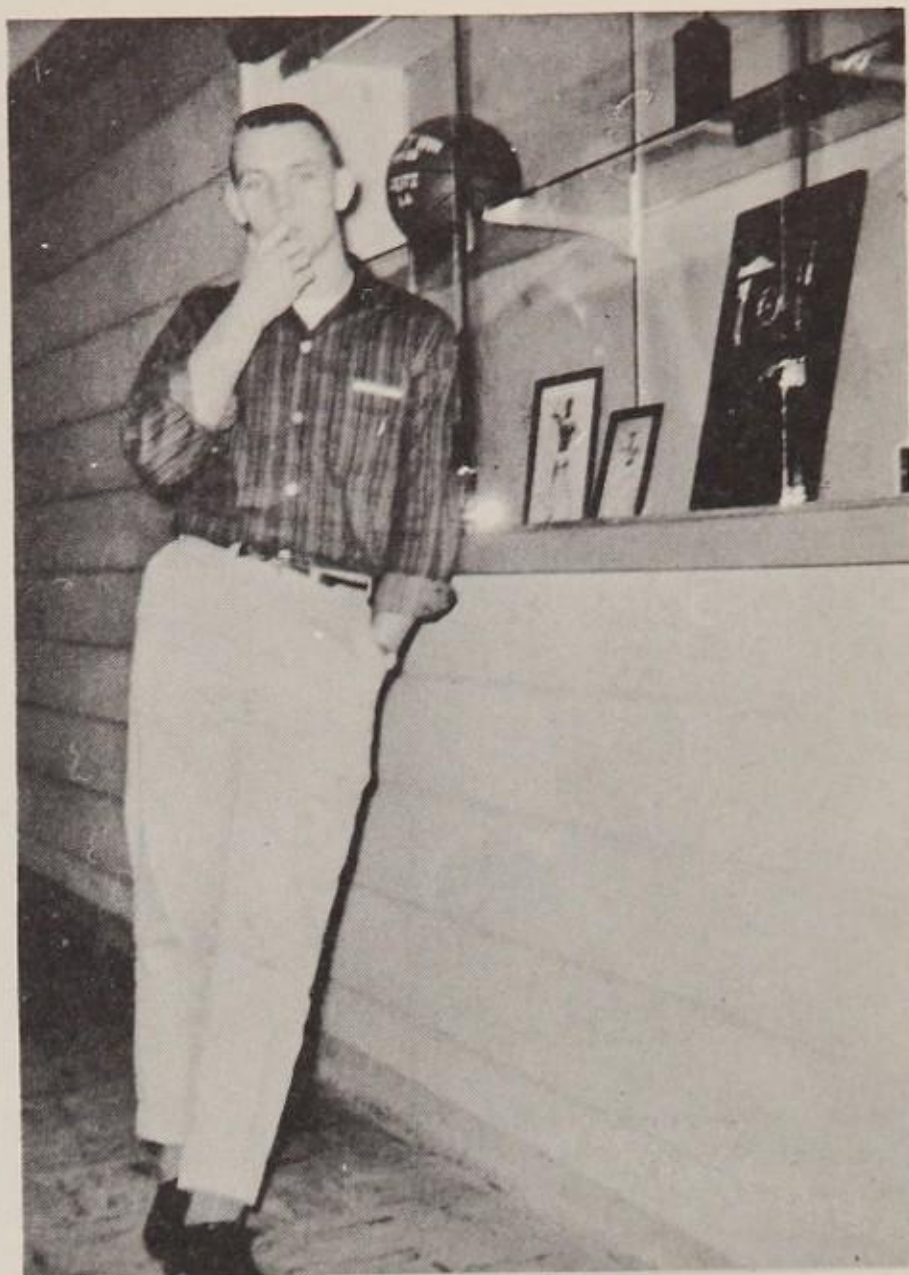

The Husky line-up was Jack Hancock and Bill Beshear at the end slots, tackles Jerry Bruner and Marv Calloway, Dan Rankin and Jerry Dewig as guards with Ron Taylor at center. In the backfield were Bill Buck, quarterback; John Mominee, Larry Lindenschmidt, and Don McCormick going at the halfback positions, and Larry Snyder and Mike East at fullback.

Tieing tough squads and losing close games presented the problems faced by Archie Owen, coach, and his reserve gridders.

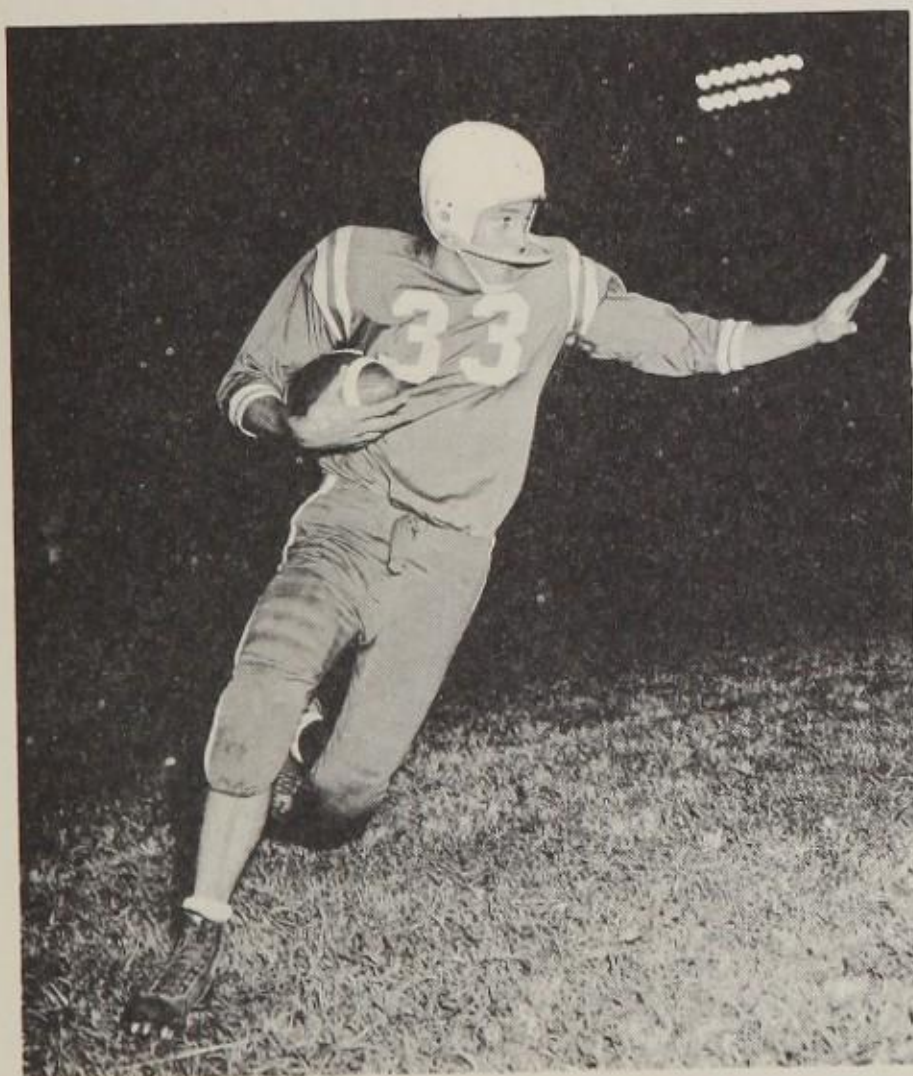

The reserves, who concentrated on building a stronger varsity team, sacrificed their success for that of the varsity. The reserves, finishing the season with 2 wins, 3 losses, and 3 ties, played the roles of the teams the varsity would meet in the next contest. The reserve gridders would have probably thrown more games into the winner's circle if fewer reserves had been moved up.

"What? Who, me?" Surprised Bill Buck asks when he won the Kiwanis football award.

John Cox, fierce and fighting, blocks off two Lincoln Lions. (Courtesy of The Sunday Courier and Press).

Cross Country Fought:

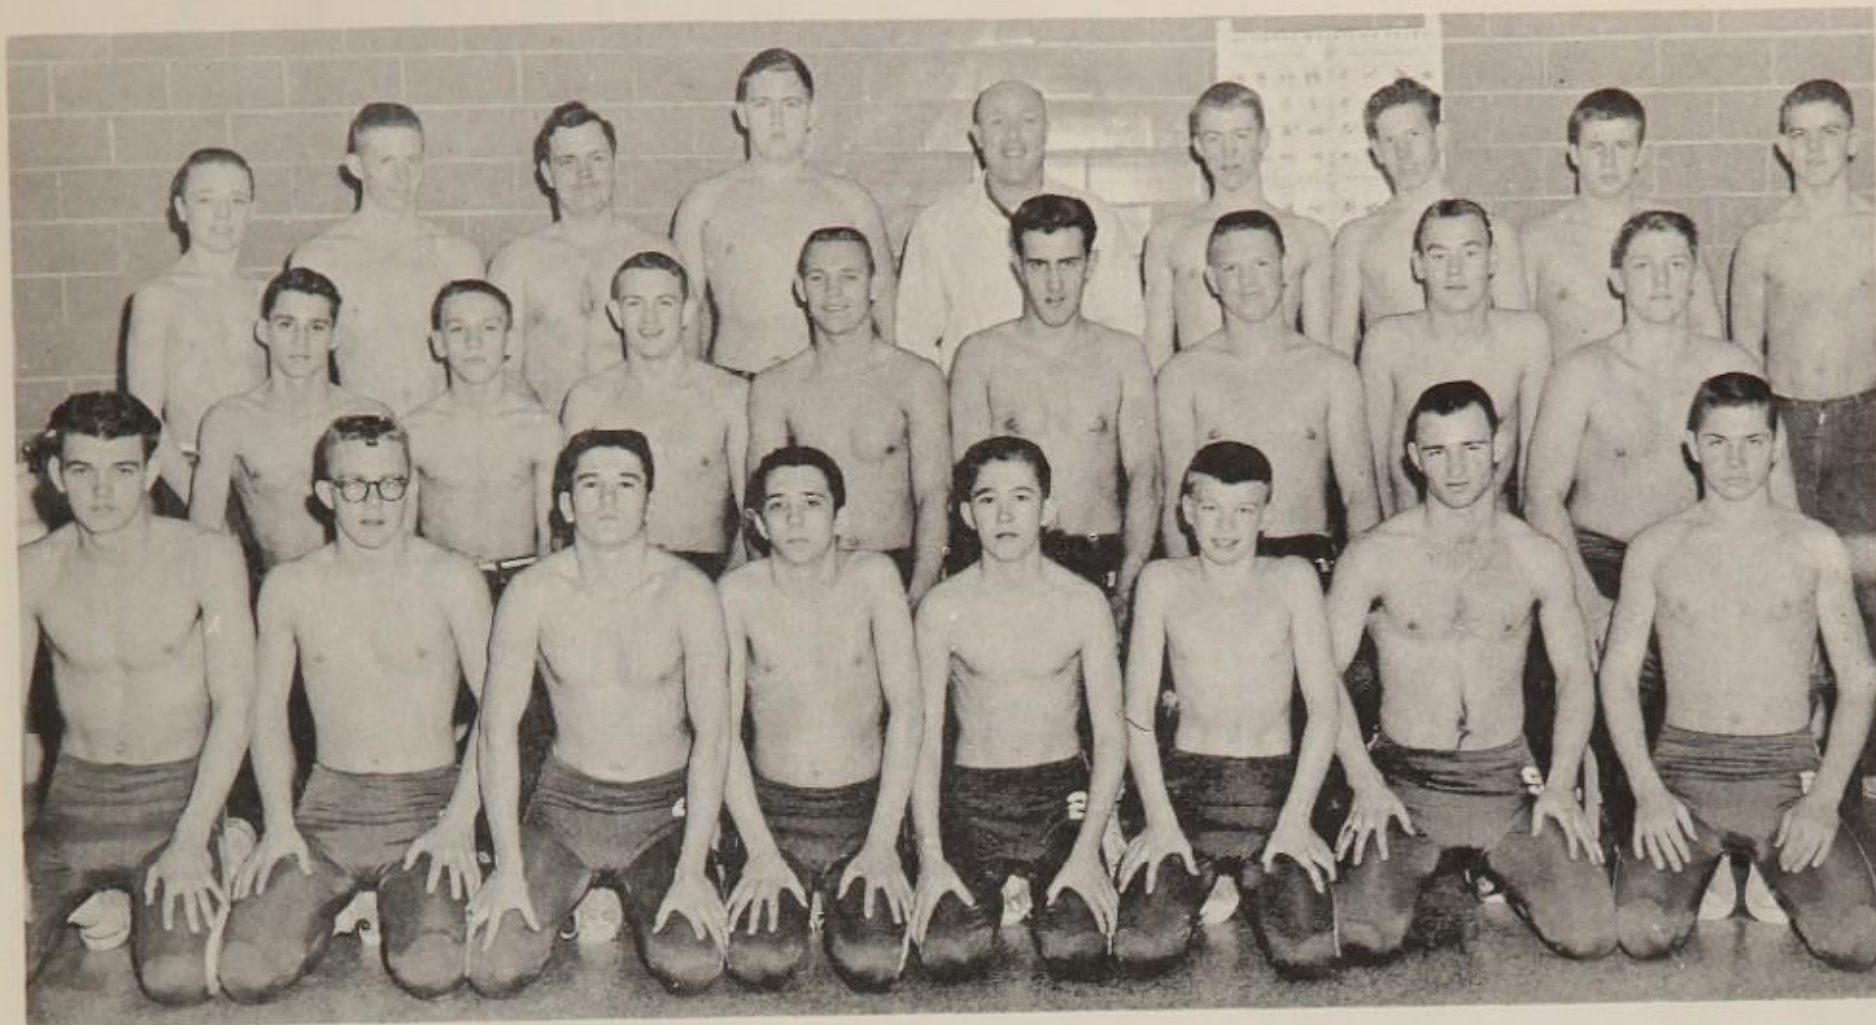

Building is the code of Coach Jim Rausch's two-mile cross-country runners.

The distance men, plagued with illness and inexperience, remained in the loser's column during the '58 season. The Huskies' best showing was against the Bosse Bulldogs; the North runners lost the meet by one point. Don Zurstadt, Rich Royalty, and Larry Tindle led the scoring for the winless distance men. A sixth place in the SIAC meet at Bloomington and a third place in the city meet did give the squad some encouragement for their work.

Good results from a tough schedule tabs Coach Archie Owen's matmen, who produced a 7-3 record.

The Husky grapplers finished second in the city meet with Bill Smith, Don McCormick, Ron McAdams, and Bill Buck all winning a city championship. McAdams, the team's leading wrestler, also won a first in the SIAC and the sectional meets.

Inexperienced Matmen Place Second in City

Wrestling champ Ron McAdams grapples with an opponent. McAdams won firsts in the SIAC, sectional and city meets.

Husky Cagers Battle to Best Season on Record

Even though the cagers lacked varsity experience they managed to boast a 11-10 record, the best hardwood output and the first winning season for the Huskies.

With Al Koestring and Allen Koester being the only seniors, Coach Jim Rausch has a good outlook for next year's squad. Koestring led the team in scoring, won the Kiwanis Award, and grabbed a slot on the All-City Team.

In the rebounding department, Earl Phillips took the honors while Cliff Campbell called the shots from the "play-maker" berth. The season's most exciting game was the opener with Mt. Vernon when Allen Koester's hook-shot won in a double overtime, 47-46.

A 16-2 record, describes the effort that Coach Frank Schwitz's reserve cagers displayed on the hardwood court this year.

Frosh center Dave Schellhase with the "cotton-top" playmaker Joe Mullen paced the squad in scoring. Lincoln and Central were the only squads able to subdue the young Huskies. The reserve squad also made their mark by committing very few errors during competition.

Their accuracy from both the field and "charity-toss" line, backed with team work outlines the squad's success.

Cheerleaders Add Pep to Athletic Seasons

Hard work, planning, and practice commenced the day after try-outs last spring, and continued throughout the summer for the 1958-59 varsity, reserve, and freshmen yell leading squads. During the summer practice sessions, routines, ideas, and plans were worked out for the following year's football and basketball activities.

Among the results of the summer's planning were selecting new white uniforms which were sported this year; attending the annual Indiana cheerleading conference at Indiana University; mapping out weekly practice sessions; and making decisions for the annual basketball sectional, North's holiday tourney, and the many school pep assemblies with the co-operation of the Pep Club.

Our varsity cheerleaders added pep, enthusiasm, and color to our athletic events. They are (left to right) Jill Hancock, Barbara Bennett, captain; Sally Kirpatrick, Gwen Taylor, and Jeanette Skinner.

Baseball, Track Big Attractions During Spring

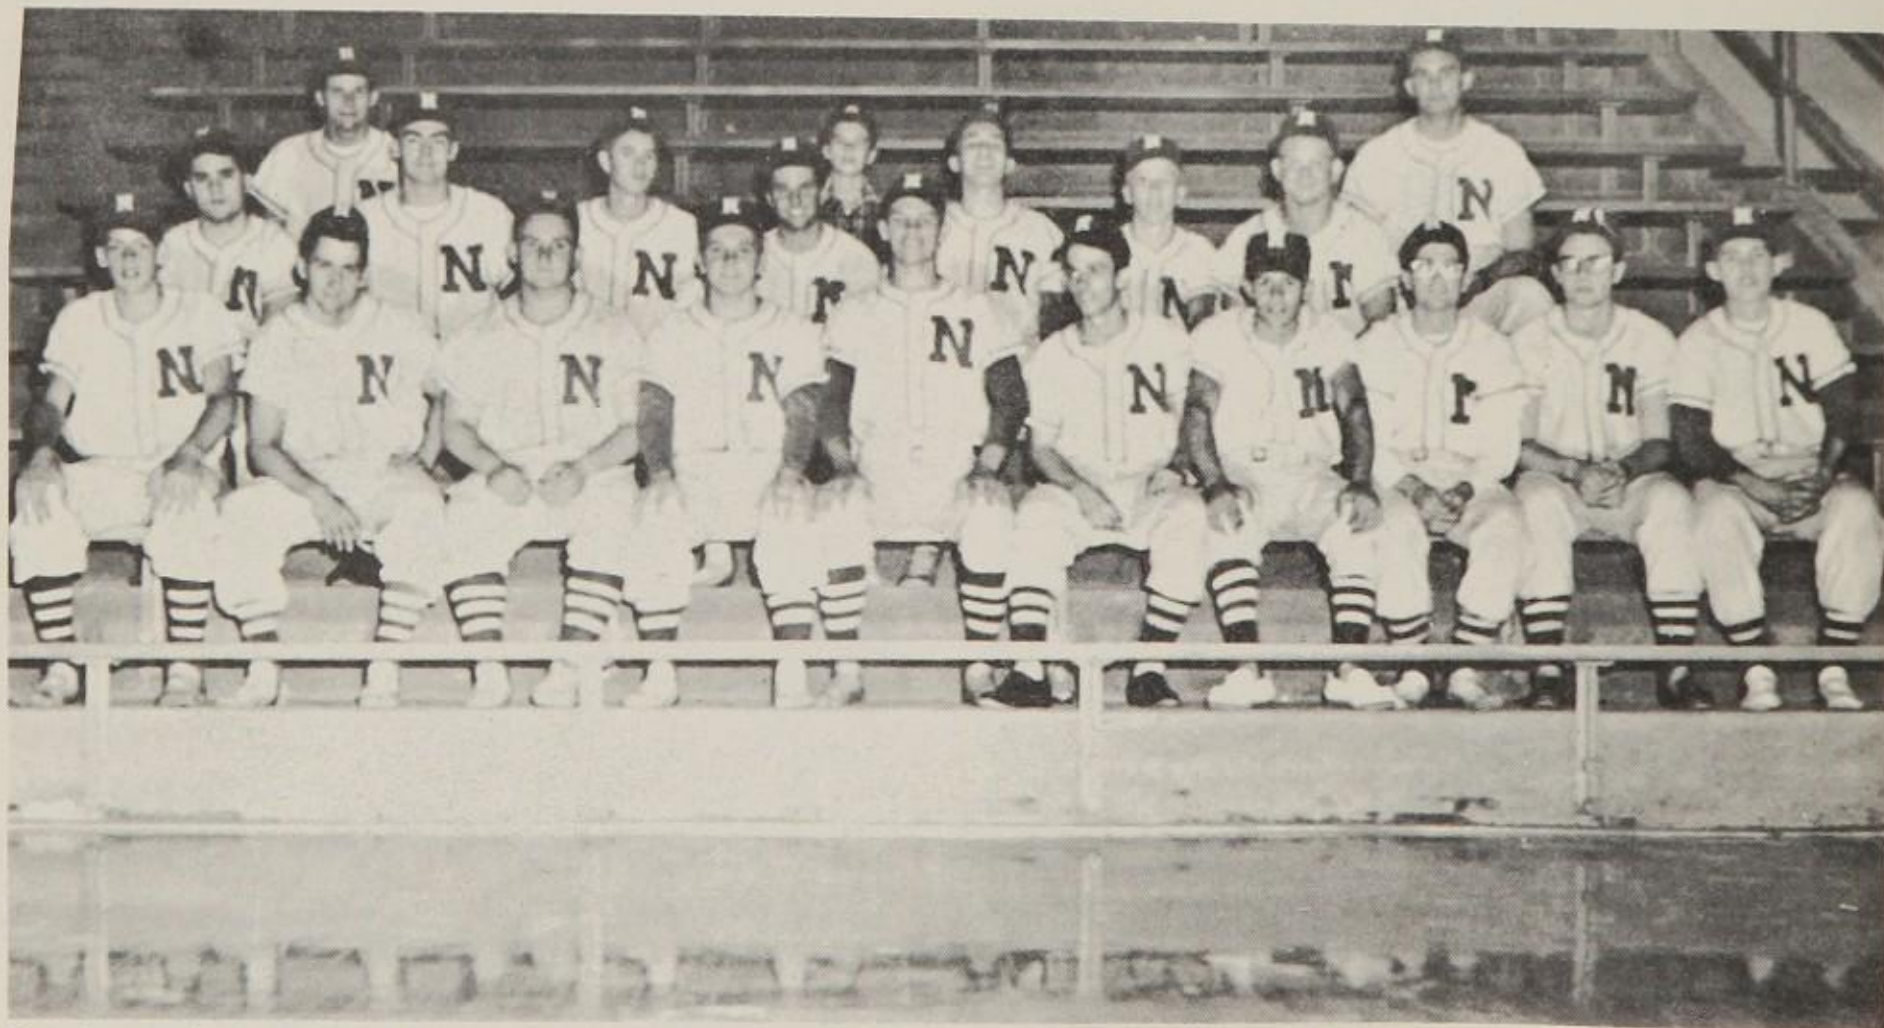

Right fielder Marv Calloway belts a shot out to center field while Reitz catcher Barry Hoppen shifts for the catch.

Two up-and-coming sports on the Husky agenda are baseball and track. Both are just beginning, but both are out to make their mark on the scoreboard.

Baseball has more returning lettermen, but there were only five seniors on the squad. Coach Dick Houghland's promising record and young squad give a hopeful eye to next year's season. The loss of Mike Chinn, Allen Koester, Al Koestring, Bill Buck, and Marv Calloway will be offset by the good material returning next year.

Ace hurdler John Cox clips his high hurdle specialty in record-breaking time.

Golf, Tennis Add Excitement in Spring Sports

The golf club and the tennis racket also made an encore for the Huskies this spring.

"Old pro" results come close to describing the caliber of golf displayed by Coach Paul Schmidt's squad this year. With Phil White and Dick Skelton taking high honors for their low scores, the golfers stopped some rough competition. The season was high-lighted by the rivalry between Phil White and Mater Dei's Jerry McRae.

On the tennis court, Ron McAdams and Art Pohl took the top honors for Coach Ray Jones. Many young tennis prospects made their debut for Jones. With most of his squad returning next year, North's racket balance should be equal in strength to that of other sports.

Table tennis, swimming, baseball, and ice skating are some of the sports sponsored by Girl's Athletic Association.

This year's organization was under the leadership of Elsie Wimpelberg, president; Anna O'Reilly, vice-president; and Judy Martin, secretary-treasurer. The sponsors of this group are Miss Dorothy McNeely and Mrs. Thelma Tanner, gym instructors.

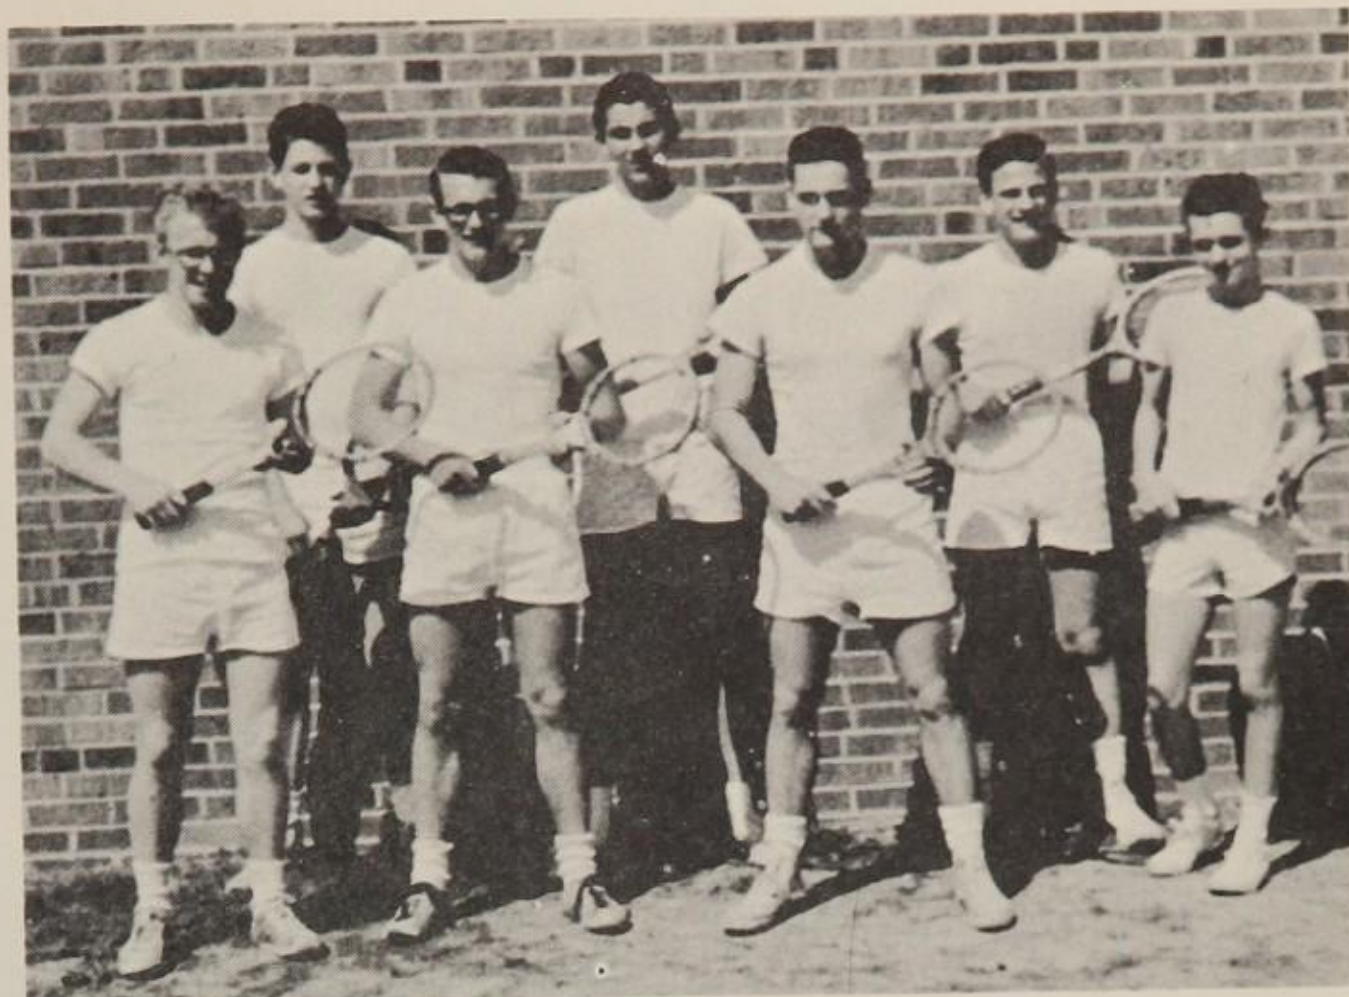

The girls participate in two sports at a time, one sport at school and one outside of school.

The sports at school are soccer, volleyball, table tennis, shuffleboard, field and track, basketball, and baseball. The sports out side of school include bowling, swimimng, ice skating, and golf.

Freshmen Find Success in Football, Basketball

North Freshmen rout Memorial as quarterback Mickey Martin carries the ball with Byron Elmendorf, end, running interference.

Frosh pigskinners, coached by Don Watson, galloped the glory road all season by winning all seven games and grabbing the city's freshman championship.

With Jack Waldvogel, end; Dave Schellhase, fullback; and Mickey Martin, quarterback, leading the team in scoring, the freshmen's strength remained unblemished throughout the season. The freshmen, who met strong competition, ripped all comers. This is the second undefeated squad for Coach Watson, who has been at North for two years. High hopes have been placed on these frosh gridgers who, in a couple years, will don varsity togs for North High.

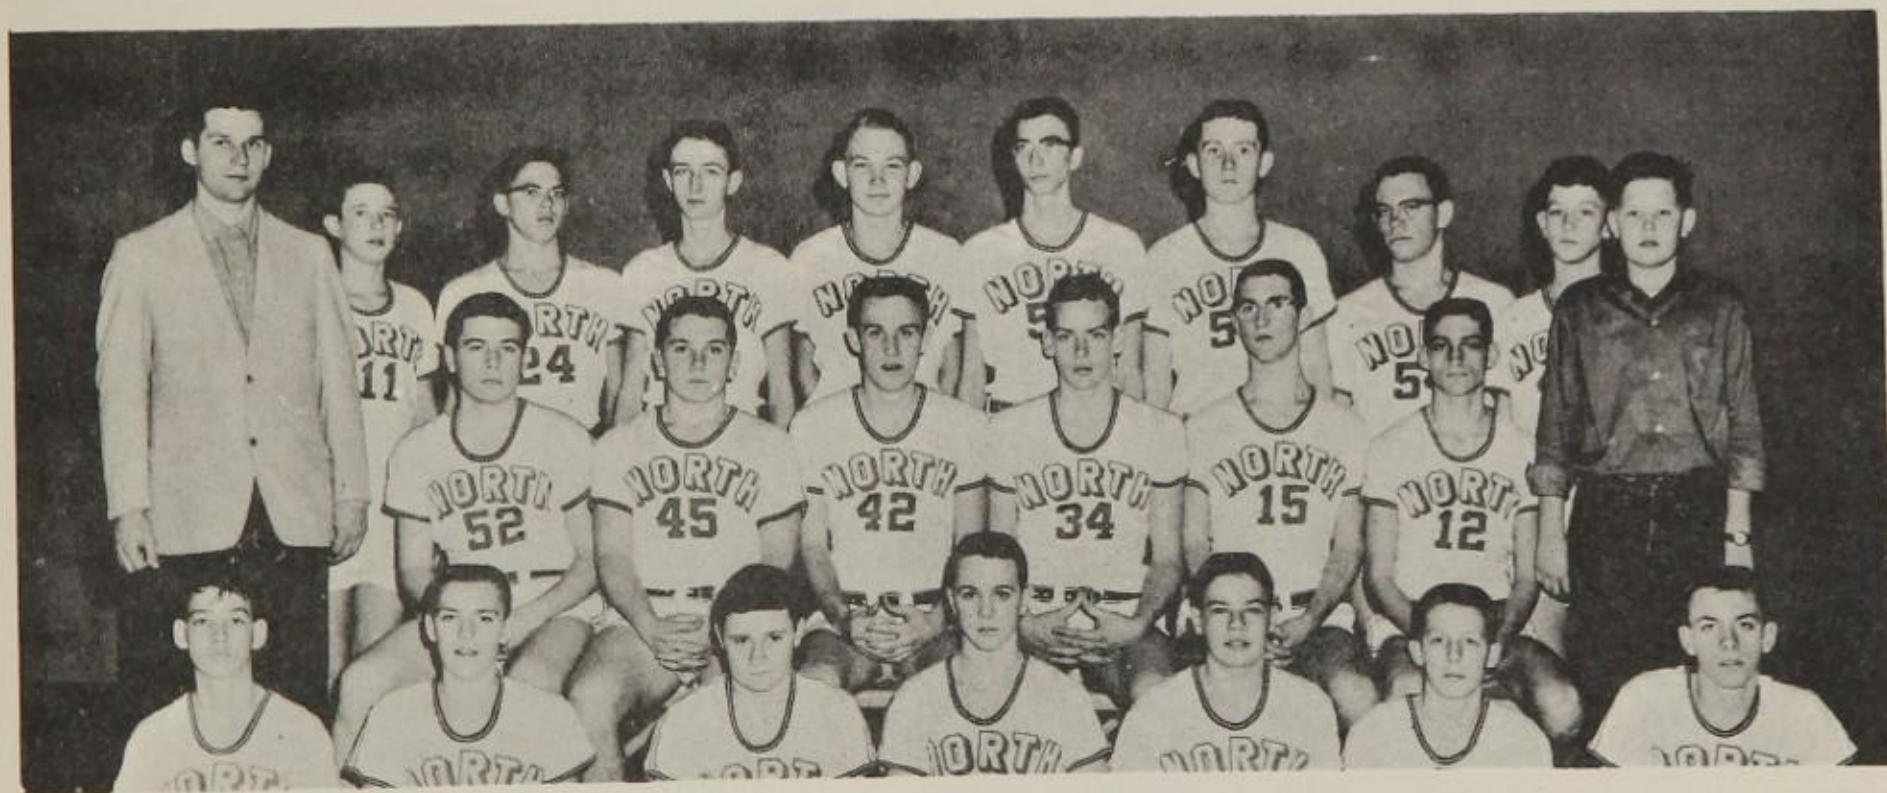

Winning the SIAC Championship high-lighted Coach Richard Hougland's frosh cage year.

The young netter's 19-3 record was very impressive. Mickey Martin and Dick Miller paced the freshman team in scoring. Dave Schellhase made a few appearances for the team, even though he played reserve ball.

They Paid Our Bills - Let's Help Pay Theirs

Our loyalty extends farther than just to North; it reaches out into our community. There, merchants, professional men, and industrialists, looking to us as potential customers, extend the ready hand of good will. In return we pay frequent visits to these establishments, recommend them to our friends, or use our influence over the family purse strings. An example of this reciprocal good will is North's next door neighbor, Economy Food Center, who frequently fills Blazer's meat dish.
